Living the Langdon LAIR life

Hello Langdon school families,

I hope everyone had the opportunity to celebrate Mother's Day, whether you are a mom, have a mom, have someone special in your world who is like a mom. It certainly was a beautiful weekend, albeit a little smoky. And maybe you were also lucky enough to catch the Northern Lights show Friday night.

The list of upcoming events is growing, and the school year is steadily winding down. There are only 6 school day Mondays left before summer! With the summer-like weather, it can be easy for students to lose focus either from excitement or they just feel done! The unexpected consistent behaviours continue to be roughhousing, inappropriate phone use, and avoiding class whether that's late arrivals or skipping out. All junior high students are expected to be in school until the end of the day and should not be leaving during options classes. We all need to do our best to continue to hold them accountable and have high expectations, so they continue to experience success as well as lessen their chances of practicing poor judgment! We also have two more Dragons of the Month awards so there's still a lot of time to be recognized for exemplary LAIR actions.

Thank you to all the parents who made it to the Parent Council meeting last week. It was great to have Mr. Fenton here to talk about the new school and answer some questions. I know he enjoyed his time chatting with students last week about possible team names for Horseshoe Crossing.

As some of the bigger events get closer, we will be looking for volunteers to help out. For example, this could be for the Farewell evenings or the Carnival day. Stay tuned for those requests.

Students will have an extra-long weekend coming up with the PL Day Friday and Victoria Day on Monday.

Have a wonderful week,
Shannon Storey
